

Terry L. Wasti

Terry is a senior business analyst at The Jackson Laboratory. As a Lawson consultant, Terry's main focus, the health care field, was working with organizations such as Mayo Clinic, Catholic Healthcare East, and Catholic Health Initiatives.

Terry graduated from the University of Phoenix with a B.S. in Management and holds an Associates of Applied Sciences in Computer Information Systems from Wisconsin Indianhead Technical College. Terry started his career as a computer developer creating financial systems and progressed into a Business Analyst/Consulting role. He has spent the last 15 years helping organizations implement and maximize their financial/procurement/human resources systems.

Terry lives in Sullivan with his husband and two children. They relocated from Minnesota two years ago and haven't looked back. His two sons are adopted. Jake, 15, is the oldest, and he joined the family two years ago. Chase, 14, joined the Wasti family when he was three weeks old. Described as "always being a treat" in their lives, Chase has Down's Syndrome. Treating and caring for people with special needs has been an important priority to his family.

Terry enjoys antiques and old homes (theirs is 200 years old!), camping, traveling, computers and relaxing with his friends and family.
